Introduction to Graduate Studies at Carleton

Grad School 101

Academic Development

Professional Development

In Brief: Essential Links

Welcome to Graduate Studies at Carleton University!

Graduate school is an adventure, and whether you are entering a Master's or PhD program, you probably have a lot of questions about what lies ahead. Karim Abuawad and David Lafferty, professional development coordinators in Graduate Studies, have created a guide that will answer some of those questions and help you start your journey.

Grad School 101 addresses some of the more immediate and practical questions you might have.

Academic Development answers questions regarding the fundamentals of academic work in research and writing.
